

NASA GRANTEE SUBCONTRACTOR

NEW TECHNOLOGY SUMMARY REPORT

NASA requires each research grantee, research contractor, and research subcontractor to report new technology to the NASA Technology Utilization Office. The required reports and corresponding schedules are as follows:

Title of Report	Form Number	Timetable
New Technology Disclosure	NASA 1679	The grantee subcontractor discloses each discovery of new technology individually, at the time of its discovery.
NASA Grantee Sub-contractor New Technology Summary Report (checkmarked "Interim")	NASA C-3044	For multi-year grant subcontracts, the subcontractor summarizes the previous year's disclosures on an annual basis. The first Interim New Technology Summary Report is due exactly 12 months from the effective date of the grant.
NASA Grantee Sub-contractor New Technology Summary Report (checkmarked "Final")	NASA C-3044	The grantee subcontractor submits a cumulative summary of all disclosed discoveries. The Final New Technology Summary Report is submitted immediately following the grant's technical period of performance.

New technology may be either patentable or non-patentable.

Large business subcontractors must disclose PATENTABLE and NON-PATENTABLE items (i.e., any invention or discovery conceived or first reduced to practice during the performance of the or subcontract) as they are discovered.

Although small business subcontractors are not required to disclose non-patentable new technology, all disclosed NON-PATENTABLE and PATENTABLE new technology items are automatically evaluated for publication as NASA Tech Briefs. If an item is selected for publication as a NASA Tech Brief, a $350 check payable to the subcontractor innovator is awarded.
